HELOAIR ANNOUNCES THREE-YEAR DEAL WITH DOMINION VIRGINIA POWER FOR HELICOPTER NATURAL DISASTER AND EMERGENCY RESPONSE

May 12, 2008 - (Richmond, VA) - HeloAir is pleased to announce the continuation of a long-term helicopter partnership with Dominion Virginia Power. Over the next three years, HeloAir will be the primary provider of helicopter services to Virginia Dominion Power for all of their helicopter emergency response needs. Over the past 15 years, HeloAir has consistently responded to natural disasters, such as floods, hurricanes, ice storms, and tornadoes, to assist Dominion Virginia Power with returning power to affected customers as quickly and as efficiently as possible.

With a fleet of eight helicopters, which will grow to 10 in the next two years, HeloAir is uniquely positioned in the Mid-Atlantic region to provide this level of service to Dominion Virginia Power.

According to HeloAir's president, Whit Baldwin, "At HeloAir, Inc., we are committed to providing our customers with aviation safety and excellent customer service. This is especially critical in the type of emergency situations we've handled for a decade and a half for Dominion Virginia Power. We look forward to continuing to go the extra mile for Dominion over the years ahead, in helping them provide the best possible service to its customers."
