RE: HeloAir performs external load lift in Downtown Richmond

Richmond, VA - On Saturday, August 17th, HeloAir, Inc. conducted an external load lift onto the roof of the WestRock building in Downtown Richmond. One of the Company's Bell 407 helicopters performed the lift. In total, 18 loads of various rolls and pallets were lifted to the roof. HeloAir Inc. was contracted to do the work by the Baker Roofing Company of Richmond. Pilot Rodger Crawley said that "It took coordination from several different agencies to include the FAA, the Richmond Police Department and building security to make the project come together. All went as planned". This was our first time working with Baker Roofing. We look forward to working with them on future projects.
